A Guide to Modern, Flexible IT

In today's digital world, agencies need flexible, modern IT. Yet, Accenture research shows that 75% of the federal IT budget tied up in legacy systems, leaving little room for modernization. So, what do you keep and what can you let go? New technologies like high-speed machine learning help agencies look inside their systems to see exactly what they need to modernize--and get rid of the rest.

How Agencies Can Take Back Their Cyber Turf

Today's cyber adversaries are everywhere—embedding themselves in your networks, systems, and devices. But agencies can take back their cyber turf by focusing on security from the inside out. With innovations in analytics, artificial intelligence, and machine learning, agencies can hunt, defend, and outsmart threats with precision and efficiency. And make it extremely difficult for adversaries to do anything if—or when—they get in.

Find out how to shift advantage back to your favor.
